Pat Gorman Golf Academy

Pat Gorman, the first, three-time winner of the Wisconsin PGA, and Teacher of the Year in 2000, 2004 and 2008, is an outstanding teacher of the game of golf who is now providing golf instructional programs exclusively for Wilderness resort guests. As an instructor with Arnold Palmer Golf Academy, Gorman received endless accolades from students, and the Wilderness owners are proud to have him now at their resort. Classes are generally taught with a 3:1 ratio, and a variety of class options are available including a Parent/Child Academy which is perfect for the family who wants to learn to play better golf together.

The program features four hours of instruction including one hour on the long game; one hour on putting and pitching; and two hours on-course working on strategy and using a consistent physical and mental pre-shot routine. Each parent/child receives a memorable photograph of the academy experience along with a swing analysis sent to them via their email, and lunch is included Call 608.253.4653 for more information.
